

Nourishment for the Neshama

<http://lvracha.com>

Wednesday, November 09, 2011

Cry out to Hashem - ENOUGH - Part 3

As we cry for our very lives and the lives of our children and families and friends and all Klal Yisrael we ask Hashem, "How many korbonos are needed to wake us up – we are awake! We beseech You to please help us know what our next step is – how do we respond to acknowledge the welling within us that You are sending to us such urgent messages to return to You. How do we show You we comprehend? Are our tears enough? We are in terrified bodies. We wish to serve You and know that as a Jew it means that we may have to give up our very lives in order to sanctify Your name. Please have mercy on us and accept instead a withdrawal of our emotional attachment to ego and physicality and a return to bringing out Your attributes as a teshuva offering. Please may the retraction of our ego in this way, and the resulting effects on our conduct and interaction in this world – may it reflect Your Will, Your love, Your attributes – bring us closer to You enough that we merit to continue to grow closer under the guidance of the Moshiach Tzidkeinu speedily and with no harm to any Jew.

Please redeem us gently and lovingly for we see that fearing for our very lives is for our ultimate good:

the good of realizing that we are dust and our purpose is to use physicality only to serve You, the good of connecting once again our consciousness to You in a primary, loving and close passionate relationship that brings Your attributes to this world, and the good of straightening our primal will to that of Adom in the Garden of Eden before the chait..